Revue de presse "This sequel... featuring a gutsy, fast-thinking female space-marine protagonist, establishes veteran fantasy author Huff as an accomplished spinner of high-tech military-sf adventure." (Library Journal) "Its engaging, has some wonderful dialogue which when blended with Tanya s own unique storytelling generates another book that I had a hard time putting down. Great stuff." --Falcata Times "Torin Kerr is a great character...We can see her leadership wasn t a fluke. She s as good as she seems and this makes the adventure all the more satisfying." --Geek Native

The second book in Tanya Huff's action-packed military sci-fi adventure Confederation series

Never tell a two-star general what you really think of him.... That was the mistake Staff Sergeant Torin Kerr made with General Morris. But as a battle-hardened professional, she took pride in doing her job and getting her troops back alive. So after she'd saved the mission to bring the Silviss into the Confederation instead of losing them and their world to the enemy known only as the Others she let the general know exactly how she felt. And Torin's reward or punishment was to be separated from her platoon and sent off on what might well prove an even more perilous assignment. She was commandeered to protect a scientific expedition to a newly discovered and seemingly derelict spaceship of truly epic proportions. And Confederation politics had saddled her with a commanding officer who might prove more of a menace to the missions success than anything they encountered. Only time would tell if the ship was what it appeared to be, or a trap created by the Others or the work of an as-yet unknown alien race with an agenda that could prove all too hostile to other life forms....
